Our Pledge Regarding Medical Information

We understand that medical information about you and your health is personal. We are committed to protecting medical information about you. We create a record of the care and services you receive at our facilities. We need this record to provide you with quality care and to comply with certain legal requirements. This notice applies to all of the records of your care generated by our facilities, whether made by our personnel or your personal doctor. Your personal doctor may have different policies or notices regarding the doctor’s use and disclosure of your medical information created in the doctor’s office or clinic. This notice will tell you about the ways in which we may use and disclose medical information about you. We also describe your rights and certain obligations we have regarding the use and disclosure of medical information.

We are required by law to:

- Make sure that medical information that identifies you is kept private;
- Give you this notice of our legal duties and privacy practices with respect to medical information about you; and
- Follow the terms of the Notice that are currently in effect

How We May Use and Disclose Medical Information About You

The following categories describe different ways that we use and disclose your medical information. However, all of the ways we are permitted to use and disclose information will fall within one of the categories.

For Treatment: We may use medical information about you to provide you with medical treatment or services. We may disclose medical information about you to physicians, nurses, technicians, healthcare students, or other personnel who are involved in your care. For example, a doctor treating you for a broken leg may need to know if you have diabetes because diabetes may slow the healing process. In addition, the doctor may need to tell the dietitian if you have diabetes so that we can arrange for appropriate meals. Different departments of our healthcare facilities also may share medical information about you in order to coordinate the different things you need, such as prescriptions, lab work, and x-rays. We also may disclose medical information about you to people outside our facilities who may be involved in your medical care after you leave our facility, such as family members, therapists, home health agencies, long term care facilities or others we use to provide services that are part of your care.

For Payment: We may use and disclose medical information about you so that the treatment and services you receive at our facility may be billed to and payment may be collected from you, an insurance company, or a third party. For example, we may need to give your health plan information about surgery you received at the hospital so your health plan will pay us or reimburse you for the surgery. We may also tell your health plan about a treatment you are going to receive to obtain prior approval or to determine whether your plan will cover the treatment. However, if you pay for a health care item or service “out-of-pocket” in full, you may request that we will not disclose your health information to your health plan or insurance company.

For Health Care Operations: We may use and disclose medical information about you for health care operations. These uses and disclosures are necessary to run our healthcare facilities and make sure that all of our patients receive quality care. For example, we may use medical information to review our treatment and services and to evaluate the performance of our staff in caring for you. We may also combine medical information about many patients to decide what additional services we should offer, what services are not needed, and whether certain new treatments are effective. We may also disclose information to doctors, nurses, technicians, medical students, and other personnel for review and learning purposes. We may also combine the medical information we have with medical information from other healthcare providers to compare how we are doing and see where we can make improvements in the care and services we offer. We may remove information that identifies you from this set of medical information so others may use it to study health care and healthcare delivery without learning who the specific patients are.

Appointment Reminders: We may use and disclose medical information to contact you as a reminder that you have an appointment for treatment or medical care at our facilities.

Treatment Alternatives: We may use and disclose medical information to tell you about or recommend possible treatment options or alternatives that may be of interest to you.

Health-Related Benefits and Services: We may use and disclose medical information to tell you about health-related benefits or services that may be of interest to you.

Fundraising Activities: The Lakeland Regional Medical Center Foundation, Inc. is permitted to use demographic information, such as your name, address and phone number, and your dates of treatment to contact you for fundraising purposes for LRMC and LRHS and will only utilize other protected health information with your specific authorization. You will have the opportunity to opt out of receiving fundraising communications. For example, you may request that these materials not be sent to you by writing to our Director of Health Information Management Services at the address listed in this Notice.

Directory: We may include certain limited information about you in the hospital directory while you are a patient with us. This information may include your name, location in the facility, your general condition (e.g., fair, stable, etc.) and your religious affiliation. The directory information, except for your religious affiliation, may also be released to people who ask for you by name. Your religious affiliation may be given to a member of the clergy, such as a minister, priest or rabbi, even if they do not ask for you by name. This is so your family, friends and clergy can visit you and generally know how you are doing. You may restrict some or all of these disclosures by informing the hospital representative when you are registered or by speaking to your Nurse once you are admitted

Individuals Involved in Your Care or Payment of Your Care: We may release medical information about you to a friend or family member who is involved in your medical care. We may also give information to someone who helps pay for your care. We may also tell your family or friends your condition and that you are a patient in our facility. In addition, we may disclose medical information about you to an entity assisting in a disaster relief effort so that your family can be notified about your condition, status, and location. You may restrict some or all of these disclosures by requesting the restriction in writing. Your Nurse or other patient care provider can assist you in this request. You can also make the request in writing to the Health Information Management Services department at 863-687-1100, ext. 2835 or by mail to: Director of Health Information Management Services, Lakeland Regional Medical Center, P. O. Box 95448, Lakeland, FL 33804.

Business Associates: LRMC and LRHS may use and disclose certain medical information about you to our business associates. A business associate is an individual or entity under contract with LRMC or LRHS to perform or assist them in a function or activity that necessitates the use or disclosure of medical information. Examples of business associates, include, but are not limited to, a copy service used by the entities to copy medical records, consultants, accountants, lawyers, medical transcriptionists, and third-party billing companies. LRMC and LRHS require the business associate to protect the confidentiality of your medical information.

Research: Under certain circumstances, we may use and disclose medical information about you for research purposes. For example, a research project may involve comparing the health and recovery of all patients who received one medication to those who received another, for the same condition. All research projects, however, are subject to a special approval process. This process evaluates a proposed research project and its use of medical information, trying to balance the research needs with patients' need for privacy of their medical information. Before we use or disclose medical information for research, the project will have been approved through this research approval process. We, however, may disclose medical information about you to people preparing to conduct a research project, for example, to help them look for patients with specific medical needs, so long as the medical information they review does not leave our facilities. Unless the disclosure meets one of the exceptions described above, we will usually ask for your specific permission if the researcher will have access to your name, address or other information that reveals who you are, or will be involved in your care at our facility.

As Required By Law: We will disclose medical information about you when required to do so by federal, state, or local law.

To Avert a Serious Threat to Health or Safety: We may use and disclose medical information about you when necessary to prevent a serious threat to your health and safety or the health and safety of the public or another person. Any disclosure, however, would only be to someone able to help prevent the threat.

Health-Related Benefits and Services: We may use and disclose medical information to tell you about health-related benefits or services that may be of interest to you.

Organ and Tissue Donation: If you are an organ donor, we may release medical information to organizations that handle organ procurement or organ, eye or tissue transplantation or to an organ donation bank, as necessary to facilitate organ or tissue donation and transplantation.

Military and Veterans: If you are a member of the armed forces, we may release medical information about you as required by military command authorities. We may also release medical information about foreign military personnel to the appropriate foreign military authority.

Worker's Compensation: We may release medical information about you for workers' compensation or similar programs. These programs provide benefits for work-related injuries or illness. Health information related to services rendered to our employees at our facilities will be released to LRMC or LRHS if the services involve work-related medical surveillance and/or work-related illness or injuries.

Public Health Risks: We may disclose medical information about you for public health activities. These activities generally include the following:

- To prevent or control disease, injury or disability;
- To report births and deaths;
- To report child or vulnerable adult abuse or neglect;
- To report reactions to medications or problems with products;
- To notify people of recalls of products they may be using;
- To notify a person who may have been exposed to a disease or may be at risk for contracting or spreading a disease or condition.

Health Oversight Activities: We may disclose medical information to a health oversight agency for activities authorized by law. These oversight activities include, for example, audits, investigations, inspections, and licensure. These activities are necessary for the government to monitor the health care system, government programs, and compliance with civil rights laws.

Lawsuits and Disputes: If you are involved in a lawsuit or a dispute, we may disclose medical information about you in response to a court or administrative order. We may also disclose medical information about you in response to a subpoena, discovery request, or other lawful process by someone else involved in the dispute, but only if efforts have been made to tell you about the request or to obtain an order protecting the information requested.

Law Enforcement: We may release medical information if asked to do so by a law enforcement official in response to a court order, subpoena, warrant, summons, or similar process, subject to all applicable legal requirements.

Coroners, Medical Examiners and Funeral Directors: We may release medical information to a coroner or medical examiner. This may be necessary, for example, to identify a deceased person or determine the cause of death. We may also release medical information about patients to funeral directors as necessary to carry out their duties.

National Security and Intelligence Activities: We may release medical information about you to authorized federal officials for intelligence, counterintelligence, and other national security activities authorized by law.

Protective Services for the President and Others: We may disclose medical information about you to authorized federal officials so they may provide protection to the President, other authorized persons or foreign heads of state, or conduct special investigations.

Inmates: If you are an inmate of a correctional institution or under the custody of a law enforcement official, we may release medical information about you to the correctional institution or law enforcement official.

Information Not Personally Identifiable: We may use or disclose health information about you in a way that does not personally identify you or reveal who you are.

Use and Disclosure Requiring Authorization: Certain categories of health information have extra protections by law, and thus require special written authorization for disclosure. Most uses and disclosures of your psychotherapy notes require special written authorization, which we will obtain from you prior to any use or disclosure of your psychotherapy notes when required. When required by law, we will also obtain special written authorization from you prior to using or disclosing your health information for marketing purposes or prior to selling any of your personal health information.
